

FluoroSpot

The dual-color FluoroSpot assay is a modification of the T cell ELISPOT and developed for the simultaneous detection of two cytokines released by a single T cell using antibodies labeled with different fluorophores.

The Fluorospot assay is particularly important for the analysis of T cell subpopulations with distinct cytokine profiles in PBMC.

